GUERNSEY MAN BADLY BURNED

St. John Declares For Audit Action In Special Session

Mena Member of Highway Audit Group Writes His Views

FAIR-MINDED BODY

St. John Says Business Men Found Law Left Them Powerless

By V. W. ST. JOHN
Member of the Highway Audit Commission, writing in the Mena Star, of which he is editor and publisher.

During the past few weeks the writer has been leaving a job he is supposed to know a little about and has been giving some of his time to other peoples' business. This was not wholly his fault because he didn't ask for the job, and didn't even care much about accepting the responsibility of undertaking it. But having accepted it he just naturally knew that he was going to make a try at helping to do a good job of an undertaking that just everybody in Arkansas, including the Legislature, knew ought to be done.

This is all about the proposal to have a complete checking up—"audit" is the word generally used—of the affairs of the State Highway Department, the handling of which is probably the biggest single job ever wished on a small bunch of big men in our state, involving as it does the expenditure of millions of dollars and tremendous responsibilities. Regardless of the character of these men it is not a good sense and sound in principle, at a check should be kept on how such a trust is handled. And in Arkansas the demand for such a check-in, or audit, or investigation has been greatly accentuated by the participants in two political campaigns mightily few of us are proud.

But getting back to the main story: The writer, and six men with whom he was proud to associate, got together and sought to find ways and means to investigate the affairs of our State Highway Department, as we had been chosen to do. We have given up the job for the present and have placed in the hands of Governor Parnell, and made public through the newspapers, our reasons. We are standing 100 per cent behind these reasons.

Law Is Inadequate

In brief we quit a mighty big job of "digging" because the pick we had been given with which to do the digging seemed to us to have a mighty weak handle and dull points. We did not ask for the job and we did not resign. We just "laid off" and told our boss and those who hired us why we laid off, and now we are ready to be officially "fired" or to go back to work if and when we are given tools—a law—with which we believe we can do a good job. We are not hankering for the job, and are not asking for the new tools; neither are we refusing them. But we are of the same mind as everybody else—we know something should be done about it.

Certainly the last thing to be desired by the Highway Audit Commission was to do an injustice to the Highway Department as set out editorially in the Fort Smith Southwest American. If any injustice results, and it must not if there is any honorable way to prevent, the fault cannot fairly be laid to the Audit Commission, but to the inadequacy of the law provided, and this certainly did not come from intent.

A good deal of the foregoing sort of looks in the other members of the Audit Commission. Maybe all will

Farmer Ends Life By Stabbing Self

Body of Lee Simpson of Lawson Found in a Thicket Near Home

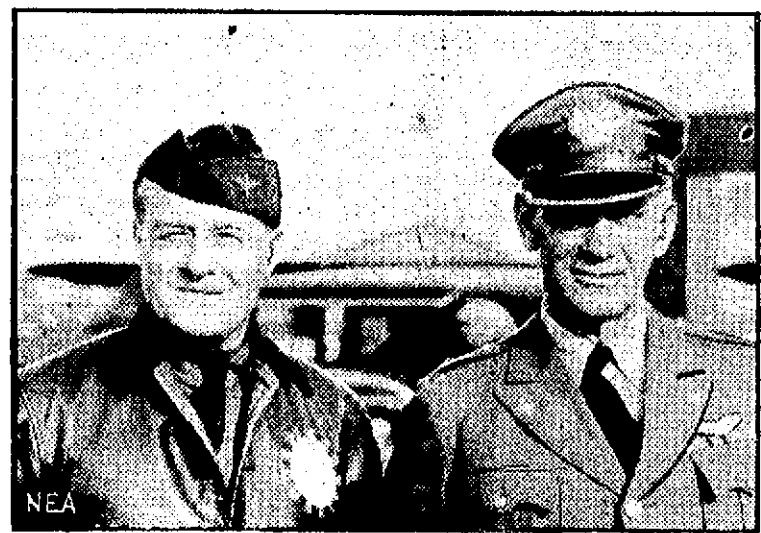

EL DORADO.—Lawson Simpson, 47, well known Lawson farmer, committed suicide early Friday by stabbing himself in the throat with a pocket-knife. His body was found in a thicket about half a mile from the house by a deputy sheriff.

His wife said Simpson had been in ill health about two months, and was despondent about his condition. He got up at midnight, she said, and sat for a time on the porch. She arose at 4:30 a. m. and prepared breakfast. When he failed to return to the house she called the deputy sheriff, who found the body after a search.

Coroner T. E. Barton said no inquest would be held, as it obviously was a case of suicide. Simpson apparently had been dead several hours when his body was found.

Besides his wife, he is survived by one daughter, Mary G.; one brother, R. B. Simpson, of Urbana, and a sister, Miss Lena Simpson, of El Dorado.

The Men Behind the Show

Women Assessing Do So Voluntarily

Assessor Ridgill Given Official Opinion on Law of 1931

"Women desiring to vote must assess and pay a poll tax, but the assessment is voluntary," the Arkansas Tax Commission held in an opinion received from Little Rock Saturday by John W. Ridgill, Hempstead county assessor.

Mr. Ridgill had asked the commission for an opinion clearing up a confused situation resulting from Act 169 of 1931. The opinion was received in a letter from Chairman W. H. Childers of the Tax Commission, which reads as follows:

"Further replying to your inquiry of April 29th with reference to the provision of Section 130 of Act 169 of 1931 we advise that the attorney general holds that said section is invalid because of its conflict with the constitution.

"You are, therefore, instructed to ignore the provisions of said Section 130 as to assessment of poll tax against female residents over the age of 21 years. Women desiring to vote must assess and pay a poll tax but the assessment is voluntary. Yours very truly,

John N. Garfield Is Found Dead Friday

Was Grandson of Late U. S. President—Head of Steamship Co.

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—(AP)—John N. Garfield, 38, grandson of the late President James A. Garfield, died under mysterious circumstances at his home at Mentor, Ohio, near here Friday night.

His death was not revealed until early Saturday. Sheriff James Maloney said he found a bullet wound in Garfield's head, but was uncertain whether the shooting was accidental or of suicidal intent.

Members of his family found him in a dying condition in his room late Friday night and his gun nearby.

He is survived by his widow, a daughter and four sons.

He was head of a steamship operating company and commander of the Crusaders National anti-Prohibition organization.

Delinquent Land List Is Published

2,484 Tracts in Today's Star—List Last Year 1,600 Tracts

The delinquent real estate tax list for Hempstead county appears in today's Star, and sets a new high record, though the increase in the list is not as great proportion as in some other counties.

There are 2,484 tracts, of which 684 are within incorporated communities. In 1930 the delinquent list totaled approximately 1,600 tracts, this year's list increasing about 50 per cent. The 1930 list, however, was larger than in 1929.

The Howard county list, published yesterday by the Nashville News, a total of more than 1,400 tracts, against less than 700 last year.

Many names originally in the Hempstead county list were stricken out and the printing costs saved, as Sheriff John L. Wilson and County Clerk Arthur Anderson made every effort to accommodate the taxpayers up to the time that the list was turned over to the printers this week.

An unusual feature of this legal publication in today's Star is that it was produced entirely within Hempstead county. Hope is one of the few cities outside the larger class with a newspaper plant capable of handling more than three pages of 7-point legal in three days' time. The list was set by The Star's regular men without help, and without interfering with the regular daily edition all this week.

200 Witnesses In School Suit Heard

Poll Tax Receipts Offered as Evidence at Bentonville Court

BENTONVILLE.—Testimony in the suit involving consolidation of 11 Benton county school districts, known as the Pen Ridge-Garfield consolidation, continued Thursday in Circuit Court and promises to exceed all records for such a hearing. About 300 poll tax receipts have been offered as evidence and about 200 witnesses have been heard to prove qualifications for signing the petitions for the consolidation.

As the tax collector had not filed a certified list of poll tax payers with the county clerk, the published list made from poll tax receipt stubs was held by the court not to be competent evidence, and introduction of receipts or of witnesses became necessary.

Many witnesses said that they signed the petition without understanding the facts and wished their names withdrawn. As some of the signers of the petition refused to give up their poll tax receipts and their attendance cannot be secured without subpoena, the question of whether the attendance of a party to a suit can be secured by subpoena was raised by the court.

Crowds from northeastern Benton county are attending the hearing.

Tulsa Schoolboys Sweep Oklahoma

TULSA, Okla.—(UP)—Tulsa Central high school athletes seek new fields to conquer—Oklahoma has no more to offer.

For the second consecutive year Central high school has won state championships in four sports, track, basketball, tennis and swimming.

In all its triumphs it subdued the state's best teams with apparent ease, winning by a two to one margin in basketball, taking five of seven places in swimming, annexing the singles title in tennis in straight sets and finishing 25 points ahead in track.

Contracts For New Blevins Buildings Awarded Friday

Construction at Blevins and McCaskill to Cost $19,485.70

WORK TO BEGIN SOON

Ninety Days Stipulated For Construction of New Structure

Contracts for the proposed school buildings at Blevins and McCaskill were awarded Friday. Bardwell and Freeman of Prescott will construct the new high school building and remodel the old plant at Blevins, and Bardwell and Gregory of Arkadelphia will build the annex to the building at McCaskill.

The new High School will be erected on the present school ground at Blevins just south of the old building and will face west. It will contain five class rooms, a combined auditorium and study hall, an office and a library. The old building will also be remodeled, making two more class rooms out of the auditorium and adding another staircase. It will also be replastered giving the interior new appearance. Doors and windows will also be rearranged to make it fulfill all the requirements of a modern grammar school plant.

Annex at McCaskill

An annex of two rooms will be built on the south end of the McCaskill building. The interior of the present building at that place will also be thoroughly renovated removing the plaster which is falling away and giving a new finish throughout. The two class rooms now used for an assembly hall will continue to serve that purpose but a new and up to date stage will replace the temporary arrangements now used there. An overhead door, the latest improvement on movable partitions, will also replace the wall that is now taken out by sections. These changes will, with equipment to be added later, make the McCaskill building a thoroughly modern junior high school plant.

Total Cost $19,485.70

The total expenditures for these buildings will be $19,485.70. The new High School and remodeling of the Blevins building will cost $15,000 and the work at McCaskill is contracted for $4,485.70. Equipment to be added to the amount of about $5,000 will be added to these buildings after they are finished.

Working days stipulated for the completion of these buildings were 90 at Blevins and 75 at McCaskill. Each firm expressed the intention of beginning work in the near future and will use all local labor and material that is practical. All work will be supervised by Architect D. F. Weaver, who is employed by the local school board.

These plans are the culmination of almost a year's study by the school board in conjunction with County Superintendent E. E. Austin and the State Department of Education, and it is believed they will meet the needs of the district for several years to come.

Catch Eyeless Fish

HOMER, Neb.—(UP)—Leo Bude has a good fish story to tell. While angling in a lake near here he caught an eyeless bullhead. The fish had a perfectly smooth head, with no eye structures whatever. A fellow fisherman vouches for the catch. Both are puzzled over how the fish lost the bait in the muddy water.

ROME.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini was thrown from his horse Saturday while taking his usual morning constitutional on the grounds of his home, Villa Torlonia, but suffered only a very slight injury, principally scratches to his face.

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Secretary Donak cabled Miss Mary Anderson, director of Woman's Bureau, not to attend the International labor conference on May 28, in Geneva to which she had been sent by him. The labor secretary Saturday disclosed this action had been taken on the advice of the State Department which took the position that it was inadvisable to have any one there official or unofficial. The conference is under the League of Nations auspices.

Oat Display Shown By Spring Hill Man

W. Andrew Collins Claims Unusually Fine Crop This Season

W. Andrew Collins, of Spring Hill, claims the Hempstead county oats growing championship, and possibly world-wide honors. He brought in an oat plant consisting of the growth from one lone seed, and which had produced more than 150 stalks.

"His crop will soon be ready to harvest, and if his entire patch is as prolific, Mr. Collins should reap quite a harvest. This unusually large plant is on display at the White & Co. store.

Small Child, Hit By Truck, Succumbs

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Boyce, El Dorado, Injured Fatally

EL DORADO.—Mina Boyce, aged 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Boyce, was fatally injured about 8 Friday morning when she was struck by an oil truck as she was returning home from a grocery store. She was taken to a hospital, and died a few minutes later.

J. T. Pickler of El Dorado, driver of the truck, was arrested and charged with manslaughter and reckless driving. He was released under bond of $1,000.

Witnesses said Pickler was not to blame. Pickler swerved the truck, they said, to avoid hitting two other children crossing the street. At that moment the Boyce child stepped into the street and was knocked down. A fender struck her head, and a front wheel of the truck passed over her body.

Besides her parents, the child is survived by her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Boyce of El Dorado.

Arkansan Denies Slaying Employer

Merle Johnson Accused of Poisoning Joe Bowers at Stuttgart

CHARLESTON, Ill.—(AP)—A charge that Merle Johnson, Arkansas plantation hand, who Wednesday confessed a triple murder, also poisoned his former employer, Joe Bowers of Stuttgart, Ark., was made by a relative of Bowers, Sheriff Vincent Aye said.

Ernest Fryman of Mattson, Ill., brother-in-law of Bowers, the sheriff said, accused Johnson of conspiring with Mrs. Bowers to bring about her husband's death so they could come here together. Johnson denied the charge, the officer said, and declared that Bowers had died of influenza.

An inquest will be held Friday over the bodies of Mrs. Bowers and two small sons, whose slayings Johnson is said by officers to have admitted.

Woman Is Charged With Death of Mate

Takes Victim for 145 Mile Automobile Ride After His Death

GAINESVILLE, Fla.—(AP)—A first degree murder charge was filed Saturday against Mrs. Nellie Pierce, who told police she placed the body of her husband in an automobile and drove 145 miles to the home of relatives in Lakeland, after he was killed by an accidental shot during a family quarrel.

Bowers became suddenly ill in the spring of 1930 and died. He left his widow a small sum of life insurance money, which she used in financing her crop. Johnson assumed management of the farm. The farm brought little better returns, and Mrs. Bowers secured financial assistance from her father. In January Mrs. Bowers and children left Arkansas with Johnson. She wrote a letter to her father, telling him that she was leaving and that he would never see her again.

Third Trial Likely For Lester Cooper

Youth Accused of Killing Companion Early in 1930

TEXARKANA.—Whether or not Lester Cooper, 22, will face trial for the third time on a murder charge at this term of fifth judicial district court had not been decided by District Attorney Elmer L. Lincoln Friday.

The first two trials resulted in hung juries. Cooper shot Paul Hunter, 23, to death in April, 1930, in the morgue of the East Undertaking company, where both were employed.

The controversy among jurors which prevented a verdict in the second trial last December was said by attorneys to be unique in court annals. Eight of the jurors voted for a three year term and the others held out for two years. They could not compromise over the one year difference.

The defense pleaded temporary insanity from excessive use of alcohol, combined with a blow on the head, at both trials and injected a hereditary insanity element into the case.

Falling timbers crushed her against the swing, killing her almost instantly. She is survived by several children. Funeral services will be held Saturday at Moody cemetery.

Bowers Family Had Lived at Ulm, Ark.

Father Had Not Heard From Woman Since Last January

STUTTGART.—First news of the whereabouts of Mrs. Joe Bowers, 39, to reach relatives here since she left last January came this week in a news dispatch from Matton, Ill., saying she had been shot and killed and her two small sons, Joe Jr., five, and "Bubbie," two, strangled to death by J. Merle Johnson.

Joe Bowers, husband of the slain woman, lived with his family in Ulm for many years and was section foreman for the Cotton Belt railroad. In 1929 he engaged in rice growing on a farm near Stuttgart. His first crop brought him moderate returns. Early the next year, Johnson, who had worked for Fred Klauke, brother of Mrs. Bowers, was employed on the Bowers farm.

Bowers became suddenly ill in the spring of 1930 and died. He left his widow a small sum of life insurance money, which she used in financing her crop. Johnson assumed management of the farm. The farm brought little better returns, and Mrs. Bowers secured financial assistance from her father. In January Mrs. Bowers and children left Arkansas with Johnson. Company Suffers $1,500 Fire Loss to Plant on Highway

Frank Cornes, age 21, nightwatchman for the Earl Baker Construction Company, who are paving highway 6 between Fulton and Hope, was badly burned in a gasoline explosion which occurred at a tool house, near Guernsey, four miles west of Hope about 8:30 Friday night.

Rushed to Hospital

He was rushed to the Julia Chester hospital in this city for treatment. His physician Saturday said the burns received were serious, but were not expected to prove fatal.

According to reports, Cornes was preparing to fill the tank of a loading shovel with gasoline, preparatory for his duties Saturday. He had filled two five gallon cans and as he started to carry them to the tank, the line lantern exploded. It is not known whether he was carrying the lantern or not. The explosion caused another 30 gallons of gasoline to ignite.

Tool House Destroyed

The tool house was totally destroyed by the blaze, causing an estimated loss of $1,500 to the construction company.

A negro who lived near the scene heard the explosion and ran to the assistance of Cornes. Aid of other neighboring farmers was immediately summoned and the man was rushed to a hospital here.

Cornes is a son-in-law of G. W. Powell, farmer, living near Guernsey. High School and had been in the employ of the construction company for several weeks.

Panama Changes

IF the shades of the old-time sea rovers and adventurers ever see the American newspapers, they must have been extremely interested by a brief little item from Panama City that appeared the other day. This item said that the government of Panama has signed a contract with a Mexican promoter to convert the ancient city of Old Panama into a tourist resort.

Old Panama, in its heyday, was a famous city, and a great many men traveled long distances to get to it. But they were all there on business, from the government official who came out from Spain in a top-heavy galleon to the roving freebooter who sailed in to sack the city. One and all, they would have roared with mirth at the mere suggestion that the town could ever be a haven for the tourist.

However, there it is, in black and white. Panama City is to be a tourist resort. The city that was once considered the world's pest hole is to offer gay hotels, casinos, gambling halls and all the rest of the establishments by which care-free travelers are induced to get off of their ships and stay a while.

Obviously, the world has been changing. Man's knowledge of his environment and of the forces that operate in it has progressed so far that the killing of mosquitoes has turned the yellow fever capital into a place where tourists can stroll about at ease and say, "How quaint!"

But what a lot of things had to happen before that change could be made! The number and scope of them are a fair measure of the progress of the race in the last three centuries.

Before Panama could become a health resort there had, first of all, to be huge political changes. The intermittent warfare of two and three centuries ago had to end, piracy had to be abolished and governments had to be stabilized.

Indeed, as far as that goes, the general prosperity of the average citizen had to be raised materially. There were no tourists when Panama was in its heyday; hardly anybody could afford to travel except on business.

Last and most important of all, yellow fever had to be wiped out; and before that could be done, the science of medicine had to advance immeasurably from what it was in the days of Drake and Morgan. The whole science of public health had to come into existence.

But there it is. All of these things have been done. Old Panama is to angle for the tourists—which means that the world, in three centuries, has changed almost beyond recognition.

Fixing Responsibility

GERARD SWOPE undoubtedly struck a popular note in telling the International Chamber of Commerce that the "dole" is harmful both for the man who gets it and for the community that pays it. However, he followed it by pointing to a fact that is often ignored—that industry itself must find some fair and workable alternative if the dole is to be avoided.

This fact, self-evident as it is, gets overlooked with surprising frequency. The dole has been damned from one side of the world to the other in the last decade; the alternative to the dole has seldom been given much attention.

The evils of the dole are fairly obvious. England is painfully familiar with them. Hundreds of thousands of young Englishmen are growing into manhood without even having held jobs in their lives. They have not had to work. The government has supported them. Some of them prefer to remain unemployed. Why work, when a kind government will pay you a wage anyway?

It is no wonder that industrialists have looked on the dole as a radical device only one degree better than outright Communism. But, as Swope points out, there is another side to it.

England is paying the dole because she has to. Unemployment has been widespread and chronic ever since the war. England has missed actual revolution, in the years since 1918, by an incredibly narrow margin—the margin of the despised dole. With all of its evils, the dole has kept the nation from collapse.

In this country, today, we are having our troubles with unemployment. It has been widespread enough and it has lasted long enough to make many people look wistfully at the British dole system. Mr. Swope, in condemning the dole system, very properly goes on to say that if industry wants to avoid the dole it must, by its own forethought and planning, avoid unemployment.

That, after all, is what it all comes down to. The ordinary man is entitled to a job. If his country's economic system is so poorly constructed and so badly synchronized that he cannot get one, he is entitled to some sort of pittance that will keep him and his family from starvation.

Industry, naturally, abhors the dole. Too often it forgets the responsibility to which Mr. Swope has pointed—that industrial leadership must make the dole unnecessary. Mr. Swope has done the country a great service in making that responsibility clear.

How Doth the Little Busy Bee Improve Each Shining Hour?

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON. — Commercial history in the last few years appears to have damaged the theory that Europe was on its last legs.

It makes a lot of difference to this country. No one disputes the growing interdependence of the two continents. Europe provides half our export markets and the percentage of loss in exports to Europe during the period of depression has been less than that in our exports to any other continent.

The United States is more important to Europe as a source of supplies than as an export market. It was pointed out by economists at the International Chamber of Commerce congress here, and Europe is more important to America as an export market than as a source of supplies.

Shows Progress

Despite foreign protests at our high tariffs and international debt payments, monographs, reports and speeches at the congress were in essential agreement that Europe had begun a period of convalescence from her post-war illness and that European commercial progress would continue despite the world-wide depression. When the depression arrived, her exports to America had been increasing and she was again holding her own in the markets of the world.

European delegates brought statistics to show that from 1926 to 1929 industrial output increased more rapidly in many European countries than in the United States and from 1929 to 1930, the first full calendar year of depression, it decreased more rapidly in the United States than in the leading countries of Europe.

Foreign trade values decreased everywhere in 1930, they said, but the shrinkage was less marked in Europe's leading countries than in the United States.

Although 1929, except for 1920, was America's record year for foreign trade, Europe's share of international trade had risen from 49.6 per cent in 1926 to 52.2 per cent in 1929.

Consumes More Raw Materials

Between 1926 and 1928 European consumption of such basic raw materials as coal, fuel oils, copper, lead, zinc, tin, aluminum, rayon, wool, rubber and cocoa increased while American consumption decreased, according to figures presented by Alberto Pirelli, the Italian industrialist, who was chairman of the Europe-United States committee which had supervised an immense amount of research and produced many long reports for the congress.

Also, said Signor Pirelli, although the United States owns 75 per cent of the world's operating automobiles the number of new registrations of motor cars in 1930 was 453,000 in Europe and only 123,000 in the United States. John H. Paley, the American publisher, former president of the international chamber, said the trade of Europe as a whole had expanded at practically the same rate as that of the United States except for the war period.

Paley also made the interesting observation that it was an open question, raised by able economists, whether living standards in the United States had risen more rapidly than in Europe. Comparisons, he said, might be merely matters of opinion and the variations simply those represented by different tastes and attitudes of mind.

U. S. Trade Values Drop

In a careful examination of 1930 from the American standpoint, he showed that our foreign trade had fallen off considerably more in value than in volume, owing to lower commodity prices. American foreign trade reached a peak of $13,500,000,000 in 1920, fell almost by one-half to $7,000,000,000 in 1921, reached $9,200,000,000 in 1928 and $9,600,000,000 in 1929, only to fall to $6,900,000,000 in 1930. The last total was 28 per cent below 1929 and 25 per cent below the average for the previous five years.

But although our exports fell 27 per cent from 1929 value to $3,843,000,000 in 1930, the Department of Commerce, making adjustment for price changes, has estimated that the quantity of our exports dropped only 19 per cent. And imports of $3,661,000,000 for 1930, which was 20 per cent off from 1929, represented a quantity decrease of only about 15 per cent.

Hoover Children's Playmates

NEA Washington Bureau
They're Hoovers too—are Charlotte Anne, left above, and Margaret Ellen Hoover who have just moved from Iowa to Washington with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hoover. Their daddy is a second cousin of the president and now Herbert Hoover's grandchild—Peggy Ann and Herbert Hoover III, will have some new playmates.

Little Rock: Senator Alonzo W. Covington, of Clarksville, president of the last senate, was arrested Wednesday for the third time, on charges growing out of alleged bootlegging operations of the last General Assembly.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Hope Public Schools, the following faculty for the High School for the next term was elected:

W. J. Hammond, of Pine Bluff, principal; J. P. Paisley, of Jefferson, Ga., assistant principal.

Assistants: Misses Mary Bouldin, Ruby Ament, Josie Anderson, Bessie Royston, Bessie Green, Emma W. Riley, Frieda Jagersfeld and Mrs. Ira Winfrey.

A pretty wedding which is of much interest to friends here, was that of Miss Mary Crig and James W. Patterson, which occurred Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride, in Nashville.

Miss Jewell Rice, who has been attending Belhaven College, at Jackson, Miss., returned home last night. Miss Rice will be one of the teachers in Garland Grammar school next year.

The King of Siam is said to be fond of golf. Now you know why he is anxious to have his eyes fixed up.

Johnny Weismuller, swimming champ, and his young bride, are taking an extended honeymoon. Well, they won't have to worry about keeping their heads above water.

"I'm willing to live and let live," says Al Capone. But he doesn't say for how much.

Butterflies, says a naturalist, eat practically nothing. Inmate them, and you may also acquire wings.

That hotel where Alfonso is paying $30 an hour for rooms probably considers the jack more important than the king and queen.

"That's the dope," as the dentist said, applying the anesthetic.

Cornell to Hold "Spring Day" Sports

ITHACA, N. Y.—(UPI)—Spring Day at Cornell University will be featured tomorrow by events on diamond, track and water in which teams from six colleges will compete.

The major event of the day will be a regatta on Cayuga Lake in which crews from Harvard, M. I. T., Syracuse and Cornell will be at the starting line. This combination brings to Ithaca crews of the first three colleges which finished at Poughkeepsie last year, promising a race of unusual interest. The Poughkeepsie Regatta last year saw Cornell take first place with Syracuse second and M.I.T. third.

The program calls for three races: A freshman race in which Harvard will not take part; a Junior-Varsity event, and the final Varsity race.

The annual Spring day baseball game between Yale and Cornell will be played as usual.

The traditional Spring Day Carnival will be omitted this year due to lack of student interest, and a dual track meet between Princeton and Cornell will be substituted.

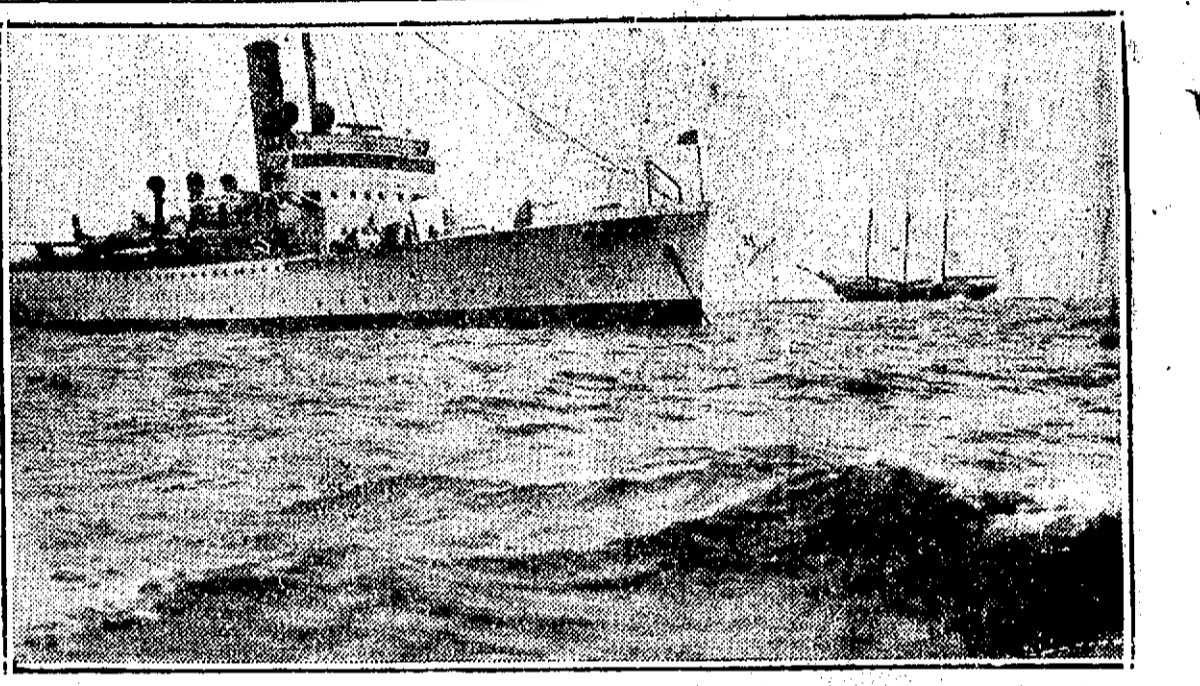

United States department of commerce records show 977 gliders registered as of Jan. 1, 1931, against 45 one year earlier.

Army "Hornets" Preen Wings for War Games

Greatest air maneuvers in U. S. history began at Dayton, Ohio, where 570 military planes concentrated for mimic warfare before an aerial "attack" on New York. The group of ships pictured above at the Dayton base are among the fastest in the army, capable of going around 200 miles an hour. Giant bombers, observation planes, and fast pursuit and scout ships from all parts of the nation converged on Dayton, from which they will conduct maneuvers to Chicago and Detroit before flying to New York and other eastern cities.

Schooner Stranded Off Connecticut Coast

Stranded solidly on the rocks of Peck's Ledge, off Norwalk, Conn., the three-masted schooner W. B. Webster is seen above, in the background, after its crew of eight had been rescued by coast guardmen. A Coast Guard cutter is shown standing by, though virtually all hope of floating the grounded schooner had been abandoned. The ship went on the reef in a dense fog while en route to Boston from New York.

When a Duke Joins the Army

Good-bye Broadway, Hello Hollywood

Another little Broadway star who'll twinkle in Hollywood is blonde and winsome Noel Francis, musical comedy favorite. Here you see her in a charming pose. And—don't let this unnervingly young—she's going to be cast as a siren in her next picture!

George Washington Knew Pinch of "Hard Times"

WASHINGTON (AP)—George Washington came home from the Revolutionary war practically "broke," recent letters reveal.

He sent his mother 15 guineas with the explanation that these were all he had and that they were due some one else.

"I have now demands upon me for more than 500 pounds, 340-odd of which is due for the tax of 1786, and I know not where or when I shall receive one shilling with which to pay it."

Strength for today is all that we need. As there never will be a tomorrow. For tomorrow will prove but another day.

With its measure of joy and sorrow.

Then why forecast the trials of life. With such sad and grave persistence. And wait and watch for a crowd of ills.

That as yet have no existence?

Strength for today, in house and home.

To practice forbearance sweetly. To scatter kind words and loving deeds.

Still trusting in Him completely.
